

ABOUT

Our division includes 17 schools, approximately 4,500 students and 600 teachers. We are a rural school division that features five distinct communities with excellent schools which offer outstanding academics, diverse outdoor and extra-curricular activities and first rate homestays, in small, safe and caring communities. Although most of our international students participate at our high schools, we also offer elementary programs and summer and winter camps.

I am learning not only English, but also the great lessons from nature that I could never learn from any other place I lived. Every morning, biking to school feeling a cool breeze from the Rocky Mountains, I realize how lucky I am to be in this special environment.

- Jane Lee, international student from Korea

Your home away from home.

Our host families are carefully selected and screened. They are enthusiastic about welcoming international students into their home. Students are treated like one of the family and encouraged to take part in household activities and outings. Hosts provide a private bedroom with a study area and ensure nutritious meals and snacks are available.
